Oklahoma Runoff May Give Tipoff

Lawmakers Might Find How Korea Affects Those in Office

(By The Associated Press)

An Oklahoma Democratic runoff primary tomorrow may give lawmakers some indication of how the fighting in Korea affects incumbents.

Democrats are also nominating tomorrow in Arkansas, where a governorship race has involved the national issues of the Korean war, and in Louisiana, where Senator Russell Long is after his first full term in the office once held by his father, Huey P. Long.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okl.), fighting for his political life, has tried to emphasize in the closing days before the Oklahoma runoff the part he has played in helping provide the funds for American fighting forces.

Thomas trailed Rep. Mike Monroney (D-Okl.) in the first primary July 4, although Monroney didn't get a majority because of four other candidates in the field.

Record Is Issue

Monroney has made Thomas' record as chairman of the Senate Appropriations Military Subcommittee an issue in the between primaries campaign. He contends that lack of equipment for American forces in the early stages of the fighting on Korea can be traced to failure to provide enough and the right kind of funds.

Thomas flew back to Washington shortly after the primary to take an active part in Senate consideration of the $3,168,000,000 one-package appropriations bill now before the Senate. He was on hand when President Truman told Congress in a message that he wants $10,000,000,000 in additional funds to build up the armed forces.

If Thomas is elected, some lawmakers said they will take it as something of a sign that the voters are likely because the United States need better prepared to fight other legions said they think local circumstances will govern the outcome.

Katsbaan Man, 90, Burns to Death

Fire Sweeps Second Floor of Valley Inn; Dog Gives Alarm

Jeily Antonelli, 90 of Katsbaan was burned to death early this morning when fire swept the second story of the Valley Inn on route 32 at Katsbaan. The aged man was unable to leave the building. William Antonelli and his wife, Bertha, both escaped after being aroused by the Antonelli dog.

State Trooper Rasmussen of the Lake Katrine station investigated the fire which was discovered about 4:30 o'clock this morning. William Antonelli was aroused in his second story bedroom when his dog, apparently awakened by the fire, began to scratch Antonelli's arm. Antonelli found the room filled with smoke and after awakening his wife and father went downstairs to secure a fire extinguisher. He was unable to return to the upper floor due to the rapid spread of the flames. A fire department was summoned and the fire confined to the upper story which was very badly damaged.

Coroner Michael A. Gallotta of Glasco was summoned and issued a verdict of accidental death from burns. The body was turned over to the Hartley & Lamouche funeral home in Saugerties.

Governor Won't Tell What Outfits Are Under Orders in State

Albany, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—Some units of the New York National Guard today had orders to report for active duty and Governor Dewey prepared to reactivate the State Guard.

Dewey announced last night the National Guard alert, but he would not disclose what units were involved.

Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., requested for security reasons, that the units not be identified publicly, Dewey's office said.

The governor scheduled two conferences today to discuss what he termed "personnel, financial and legal problems" in the re-establishment of the State Guard to replace the National Guard.

He was to confer with officers of the National Guard and the attorney general and his counsel.

Meets With Leaders

The governor met this afternoon with legislative leaders to discuss all phases of setting up the State Guard.

The army announced Friday the alert for "non-divisional" National Guard units, but did not say what units would be federalized.

State military sources indicated that "non-divisional" units presumably meant those units not connected with the 27th Infantry Division update and the 42nd Infantry Division of the metropolitan area.

Such units would include quartermaster, signal, anti-aircraft and ordnance maintenance units. These groups have about 11,000 members in New York state.

Pentagon Has Little Record About North Korean Army

Washington, July 24 (AP)—American soldiers in Korea are battling a strange enemy whose identity is uncertain, whose commanders are nameless, who fights murderously.

The northern enemy looks exactly like the southern friend. The enemy uses this to advantage to strike by stealth.

Even the best official records at the Pentagon are reported to contain the name of only one North Korean commander. This is in sharp contrast with World War II days, when the names of enemy field commanders were almost as familiar to American readers as those of United States leaders—Japanese like General

Leopold and Party Face Opposition; Strikes Expected

Walkouts Might Spread Until King Quits Throne Regained 2 Days Ago

Brussels, Belgium, July 24 (AP)—King Leopold and his Social Christian government today faced tightening opposition which promised to take a far more solid form than catcalls and press blasts.

A Socialist leader declared that a wave of strikes would start today in Belgium's Walloon area. They would spread, he said, until the King quits the throne he regained only two days ago.

The Socialist spokesman indicated that no general strikes are planned immediately. Expecting the abdication fight to be a long one, the anti-Leopold party is loath to use all its weapons at once.

Leopold has shown no sign he intends to submit to his opponents' demands that he abdicate and let his eldest son, Crown Prince Baudouin, reign.

Protest Is Made

Liberal ministers of state discovered this yesterday when they were summoned to a meeting of the crown council at Leeken Palace. They withdrew in protest when told the King would only read them an address and they would have no chance to submit demands for his abdication.

The anti-Leopold Socialist state ministers already had withdrawn from the council. The King thus found his crown body reduced from 28 to 10—all members of the Social Christian party which voted to recall him from Switzerland.

Last night several hundred of the King's opponents marched through Brussels chanting "Leopold to the scaffold." The previous day the Communists demonstrated against the King in Brussels. At Liege several thousand demonstrators turned out to protest his return. At Charleroi, a strong anti-Leopold center, three small bomb explosions were reported.

Bomb Is Exploded

In Brussels today a bomb exploded in the basement of a fashionable lingerie house near the residence of Viscount Gatten Duparc, tutor to Prince Baudouin and his younger brother, Albert. A policeman on guard suspected that the bomb had been dropped into the cellar window hastily when it became too dangerous to carry any farther. Several windows in the vicinity were broken by the blast, but the viscount's residence was undamaged.

Leopold's surrender to the German armies in World War II and his subsequent marriage to a commoner have embittered many of his subjects. Many observers predicted the King may have to rule without being seen in public until the tension eases. Already he has sent a message to be read in parliament tomorrow, instead of appearing in person to read his speech from the throne.

Weeks Is Improving

Augustus Weeks of Modena, president of the Olive Co-operative Fire Insurance Association, who was injured in an automobile accident Friday evening, was reported to be improving at his home.

Mr. Weeks was treated but not admitted to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, following the accident. The condition of Mrs. Bertha Johnston of Windham was reported good at the Newburgh hospital today.

12 Nations To Work on Big Agenda

Atlantic Pact Members Will Review Plans to Bolster Defenses of West

Has Five Tasks

Council Will Create Balanced Force Based in Europe

London, July 24 (AP)—The 12 Atlantic Pact nations—spurred by the crisis in Korea—get to work tomorrow in a five-point program aimed at bolstering their defenses against communism in the west.

The urgent need for quick action was stressed by America's Charles M. Spofford, who is expected to serve as permanent chairman of the new Atlantic Pact council, a sort of civilian high command.

Spofford, who flew here from Washington for the council's first meeting tomorrow, told reporters "The mission of the council meeting will be to speed the North Atlantic defense program along the lines of the President's message regarding the urgency of North Atlantic defense at the present time."

The council, created last May by the foreign ministers of the 12 pact nations at their London meeting, has the following tasks:

1. To create a balanced collective force based in Europe with each country specializing in particular types of forces so as to prevent costly duplications.

2. To set up mobile reserve forces which can be dispatched to any trouble spot in the west's defense chain.

3. Partial mobilization of industry for war production.

4. To lay down a master plan of rearmament fitted to the strategic defense plan outlined by the chiefs of staff.

5. To see that the pact partners carry out their assignments after they have accepted them.

Meeting with Spofford on the council will be deputies of the foreign ministers of the 11 other pact nations: Belgium, Luxembourg, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Portugal, Norway, Denmark, Iceland and Canada.

Has Instructions

Spofford is said to have instructions from Washington to urge the other pact members to pay out more for defense needs. Reports from the U. S. capital say President Truman is prepared to ask Congress for a new $5,000,000,000 air program for western Europe.

Some Atlantic Pact members torn between a desire for security and the need for patching up their torn economies, are reported unwilling to shoulder any heavier military burdens at this point.

Auriol Asks World Army

Bar-le-Duc, France, July 24 (AP)—France's President Vincent Auriol has called for "definite organization" of an international army against aggression.

In his first public statement on the Korean war, Auriol, hailed "the building, however late, of the international army so long demanded by France."

"France asks now a definite organization of that army as an element of order and security for all peoples," he declared.

Speaking at ceremonies honoring World War One President Raymond Poincaré, Auriol said "seek and propose every solution which may, in the spirit of justice, halt the (Korean) conflict and prevent others from breaking out."

"But first of all," he continued, "it is necessary to stop an aggressor who, by refusing mediation, has exposed himself to the stigma of the U. N. It is first necessary to check an invasion and an occupation."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, July 23 (AP)—The position of the Treasury July 20: Net budget receipts $134,279,563.61; budget expenditures $123,812,765.69; cash balance $4,881,101,724.70; customs receipts for month $23,974,918.49; budget receipts fiscal year, July 1 $1,352,067,712.54; budget expenditures fiscal year $1,707,995,894.75; budget deficit $355,928,182.21; total debt $257,196,490,531.41; increase over previous day $7,157,678.51; gold assets $24,157,307,994.58.

Reds Approach Tip Of Korea; Emergency Taxation Discussed

Home Front Program Is Discussed

Rayburn Says Added Individual, Business Taxes Are Still in Talk Stage

To Study Requests Examination of Powers Asked by President to Be Held

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Truman discussed with congressional leaders today the advisability of an immediate, emergency tax increase on both individual incomes and business firms.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) told reporters after the White House conference that the matter was "still in the conversation stage."

But in any case a long-range tax bill, possibly including an excess profits tax, is likely to be taken up later in the year or early next year, Rayburn said.

Rayburn said the idea of an immediate, emergency tax rise would be discussed by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and the chairman of the appropriate Senate and House committees in the near future.

He said such "interim" legislation as he called it, would be intended to take up "some of the immediate slack" in government financing arising from the proposed huge increase in military spending.

Rayburn mentioned no figure in talking of the possible emergency bill.

At the capitol, hearings began on the administration's general home front economic program.

Banking committees of the Senate and House called for public examination of the broad powers asked by the Truman administration to control and allocate steel, rubber, and a long list of other materials.

For the present there were no plans to slap on the price and ration controls used during World War II but some lawmakers thought this should be done.

To Present Requests

W. Stuart Symington was to present requests for "Defense Production Act of 1950" introduced last week after President Truman had informed Congress and the nation of his emergency plans.

Symington is chairman of the National Security Resources Board (NSRB), set up after the last war to plan for mobilization of manpower, industry and production in any emergency. He had morning appointments with both the Senate Banking Committee (9:30 a. m., E.S.T.) and the corresponding House group to discuss the proposed production law.

Under the administration bill the government could order factories to give first priority to any military needs. That would mean airplanes, tanks and guns ahead of automobiles, household appliances or other civilian goods.

President Could Decide

The President also could decide what essential military or civilian needs should get first call of any scarce materials. He could seize properties or materials for national defense, or use government credit and funds to expand production of necessary materials.

Finally the President could fix definite limits on installment buying, credit, terms of real estate and house loans, or speculation in food and farm products.

Meanwhile Senate and House leaders promised speedy action on two emergency bills designed to expand fighting forces for the battle in Korea or any other trouble spot.

The Senate already has passed by unanimous action a bill that would allow the President to extend the service of any enlisted person in the Army, Air Force, Navy or Marines for a year beyond his voluntary term.

Awaiting Senate action was a bill that would put peacetime limits on the manpower of the armed services.

House leaders expected to call up both measures Tuesday for quick passage.

Congress Asks Appraisal Of U. S. Fighting Readiness

Accounting of Billions Spent Since 1947 Also Is Sought; Admiral Sherman Is First to Give Testimony to Group

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Congress members called on top military leaders today for an appraisal of the nation's fighting readiness and an accounting of the billions spent on defense since 1947.

As lawmakers pushed emergency measures which would hasten the country toward a virtual war footing, the House Armed Services Committee launched a closed-door inquiry into the state of American preparedness.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said in advance that the big question Pentagon planners will be asked is: What have the armed forces to show for the $48,000,000,000 they have been allotted in the past four years?

The committee led off today with Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations. He will be followed on Wednesday by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff.

On Friday, the committee has called Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, who also was director of the budget during some of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Junks Are Reported Near Quemoy by Chinese Defense

Boats Are Reported Approaching Under Cover of Communist Artillery Barrage; May Herald Attack Upon Formosa

Taipei, Formosa, July 24 (AP)—A defense ministry spokesman said today a number of junks were approaching Quemoy Island under cover of a Chinese Communist artillery barrage.

It may be the long expected invasion attempt against the Nationalist held island used as a blockade base against the Reds.

The spokesman said Nationalist forces on Quemoy, just off the mainland port of Amoy, were adequate to meet the expected Red attack. He said they are supported by locally assigned Nationalist air and naval units.

Communist artillery began bombarding the town of Guanau, on Quemoy's northeast coast, at 11 p. m. Sunday (8 a. m., E.S.T. Sunday).

The spokesman said President Truman's June 27 request to halt air and sea operations against the Red mainland did not preclude the defense of Nationalist positions.

Asked whether there was effective cooperation between Nationalists and the United States Seventh Fleet, assigned to safeguard Formosa from Red invasion, the spokesman replied: "That's a military secret."

No Aid Without Okay

34 Tennessee Guardsmen Are Killed in Air Wreck

Myrtle Beach, S. C., July 24 (AP)—An air force transport hurtled into a swampy plain near here yesterday and exploded into a blazing funeral pyre for 34 servicemen.

The dead included 30 members of the Tennessee air national guard, en route to Nashville from war games in this area. Four air reserve crewmen were on the plane.

Minutes after the C-46 climbed from the municipal airport here it plunged into the pine-forested swampland. The servicemen were within sight of the airport until just before the ship crashed.

Towering, gasoline-fed flames pushed would-be rescuers back. Helpless, they watched the cremation. When the flames died, white-jacketed army medical corpsmen began removing the bodies. Late last night they had recovered 15. The others were (Continued on Page 14, Col. 2)

Two Attacks Hit Yanks On Fronts

Third Column Rules Out U. S. Use of Two Ports; Forces Are Increasing

Cavalry Is Victor

North Korean Assault Near Yongdong Is Beaten Off

Tokyo, July 24 (AP)—North Koreans hurled two tank-led assaults at Americans on separate mountain fronts today while a third Red column alighted almost to the tip of South Korea at Kwangju, near the west coast.

With the fall of Kwangju, the Reds were in position to strike behind American lines toward Pusan, key American port 120 air miles to the east. The thrust practically nullified for American use the ports of Yosu and Mokpo, to the south.

General MacArthur warned of increasing Red forces along the winding 150-mile front.

East of Taejon, a savage U. S. First Cavalry counter-attack halted a Red thrust along the mountain highway leading to Yongdong. Farther to the east in the Hamhung sector the South Korean First Corps pulled back.

Start With Tanks

The Reds kicked off with tanks, then shot their infantry at American lines. The U. S. First Cavalry Division, new in the battle, poured out at 10:30 a. m. (7:30 p. m., E.S.T. Sunday). The fight lasted an hour and 35 minutes at close quarters, then the Communists broke.

Somewhere north of Yongdong in the central sector, eight North Korean tanks spearheaded 700 Red troops against the U. S. line. Doughboys and planes knocked out five of the tanks and pinned down two others. Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert, who reported the assault, was with the 25th Division last night. Presumably this outfit was fighting off the second Red attack.

As the north Koreans mounted their twin attacks, U. S. fighters and bombers roared out at dawn in support of hard-pressed American ground troops.

B-29 Superforts struck in clear weather at Communist transport lines. They dropped 80 tons of bombs on bridges and roads leading to the Taejon front.

Ruse Is Moved

The Fifth Air Force moved its advance base from southern Japan to Korea. Already it has at least two fields in operation. This means shorter runs and more time over the battlefield for U. S. fighter planes.

The enemy's sweep down the west coast to Kwangju evidently was by comparatively small Communist forces. In their 75-mile sweep southward from Taejon they had little opposition.

Associated Press Correspondent Leif Erickson in Korea said the move could develop into a flanking threat against the vital Pusan-Taejon rail line. However, he added:

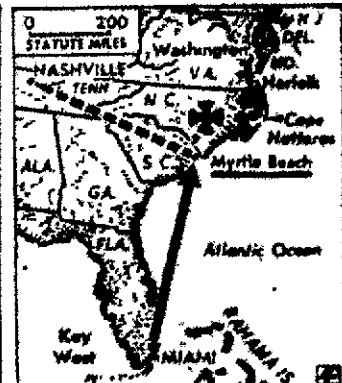

"But it is apparent the American command here (Eighth Army Headquarters) is not yet concerned that the Reds can make a serious threat from this direction while hitting in strength on other sectors."

Eight Tanks Disabled

In the fighting east of Taejon, at least eight tanks were knocked out. It was a continuation of Sunday's battle in which close support was provided the U. S. infantrymen by jet and Mustang fighters and by artillery.

The Red tanks attacked Sunday without infantry support. They were stopped between ten and 20 were reported knocked out. However, later field dispatches said the enemy's tank losses to aerial and ground attack could not be segregated and that there might have been duplication in the reports.

Field dispatches said the Americans regained more ground than (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

He was an occupant of the car operated by his son, George Sickler, Jr., 38, of the same address. The condition of George Sickler, Jr., and Barney Slutskin was reported as "good" at the hospital today.

The survivors include two daughters Mrs. Thomas J. Kearney and Mrs. Frederick J. Rice of Kingston; five sons, Frank, George, Thomas, Edward and Raymond Sickler of Kingston.

The dove of peace has battered wings . . .
And now the eagle screams
And headlines feature other things
An angry tale has sent
Our dreams of peace were brief, indeed
And joy was scarcely known
When strength became our global need
And seeds of grief were sown
Once more we have to stand erect
With shoulders squarely back
And work that we neglect
When peace days on the track
The dove is battered once again
And now the eagle screams
Through every mountain . . . dale . . . and glen
To wake us from our dreams
Our nation's voice must now be heard
Without a trace of fear
And when our giant strength is stirred
Real peace . . . may settle here

Collision of Cars Followed by Fight

A motor vehicle accident in downtown Kingston which resulted in fatalities Sunday afternoon apparently was settled peacefully when the parties involved got together at the state police sub-station at Highland, according to a Kingston police report.

Patrolmen Frank Sammons and Peter Camp, sent to the Rondout Post Office on West Strand to intervene in a reported fight, said that the fatalities started after a trailer-truck operated by John Ashton, 35, of Oxford, struck a parked automobile owned by Frank Kelly, 49, of 15 West Strand. The left rear fender of the Kelly automobile was damaged, police said.

After the fight, police said, Ashton drove off without identifying himself, and was pursued by Kelly. The two drivers stopped at the Highland troopers' barracks and proper identification was made, police said. No arrest was made.

Grants rose by $95,180 to $13,542,893, mainly the result of increased grants per case, Hilliard said. The average June grant was $71.56 he said. Although cases increased, Hilliard said there were fewer persons per case involved.

Rush of Traffic Brings Accidents

Heavy traffic over the week-end brought numerous accidents, some minor and others resulting in injuries, state police said today. Sunday traffic was heavy, Highland state police reported.

At 12:15 a. m. today Highland troopers were called to investigate an accident on highway 32, two miles north of New Paltz where a Cadillac car operated by John Gurrieri, 19, of 150 Main street, New Rochelle, and a Ford of George Maybury, 27, of River road, Newburgh, were in collision. Troopers reported the Gurrieri car was struck in the rear by the Maybury car and Charles McGreevey, 45, New Paltz, a passenger in the Maybury car was injured. He received multiple lacerations of the face and a fractured nose and was treated by Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz. There was no arrest.

Sunday morning Troopers from Highland investigated an accident at the junction of the Milton turnpike and route 3-W. A car operated by William C. Wood, 22, of Poughkeepsie traveling south and a car owned by Raymond Boone, Milton, the operator of which is unidentified, traveling north and attempting to make a left turn collided, state police said.

The operator of the Boone car left the scene, troopers reported. William C. Wood sustained an injured shoulder; W. Police maintain that which Sparling and his companion came to Kingston was involved in an accident on Washington avenue prior to the time it struck a fence on St. James street and the occupants fled.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 24 (AP)—Rail stocks took over leadership of the market again today.

After a distinctly wobbly start, a majority of issues sold at gains of fractions to a top of $2 a share or so. There were a number of hasty spots, however, notably among motors, chemical and radio-television stocks.

Elsewhere morning losses were either reduced or converted into gains.

Heavy trading developed off and on with much of the activity concentrated among rail, steel and auto shares.

Rails were heavy favorites in a strong market last week. Measured by the A. P. average of 15 carriers, the group touched a high since late 1948.

Santa Fe was one of the rails unable to get ahead today. Off $2 a share at one time, the loss was later cut in half.

In demand were New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line and Northern Pacific.

Also boosted were Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Rockwell, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Schenley, General Electric, American Woolen, International Paper, and American Tobacco.

Lower were Lone Star Gas, Louisiana Land, Aluminum Co., Atlas Plywood, Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Electric Bond & Share and Kaiser-Frazer.

Dean Escaped City, Truman Orders F.B.I. to Tighten Its Enforcement

Washington, July 24 (AP)—President Truman today ordered the Federal Bureau of Investigation to tighten its enforcement program against "espionage, sabotage and subversive activities."

He called on citizens to give the F.B.I. all possible help.

In a statement, Mr. Truman said he has asked all law officers, both federal and state, to report information on spying, sabotage and subversion to the F.B.I. where it can be "sifted out and corrected."

"I suggest that all patriotic organizations and individuals likewise report all such information relating to espionage, sabotage and subversive activities to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in this same manner."

Any information which is picked up should be reported promptly to the nearest F.B.I. representative, the President said.

Some Guard Units

a total of about 16,000 men.

The army said Saturday that units would be alerted approximately 30 days prior to movement so as to give members thereof time to arrange their personal affairs.

Brig Gen. Hampton Anderson, acting chief of staff of the National Guard, said in New York Saturday that plans had been completed for rapid organization of a State Guard.

That force generally will follow the pattern of the present National Guard in strength and location, Anderson reported.

It will be composed largely of men not qualified for general service in the armed forces, he added.

The New York State Guard functioned during World War II. It was organized in October, 1940, after the National Guard entered federal service and was disbanded in June, 1949.

Junks Reported

naval support would not be given Quemoy if invasion developments without Washington's approval.

The spokesman expressed doubt that a reported large concentration of Communist craft in the vicinity of Quemoy would pass the island for a direct attack on Formosa.

"It looks as if Quemoy is going to be their target," he said.

The Nationalist garrison on Quemoy is commanded by Gen. Hu Lien, rated one of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's most able commanders. He inflicted a smashing defeat on the Reds last winter when they attempted to conquer the island.

1,800 Crafts Manned
Intelligence reports said 1,800 motorized junks and other small boats were massed in the vicinity of Quemoy, ready for an invasion of Formosa.

Military sources said the danger of an attack on Formosa was greater now than it was two months ago.

Japanese Express Their Confidence

New York, July 24 (AP)—"Utmost confidence" in President Truman in future handling of the atom bomb was expressed yesterday by four leading Japanese public officials of A-bombed Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

They were Tsunetsugu Kusunose, governor of Hiroshima prefecture; Shinsuke Hamai, mayor of Hiroshima; Sojiro Sugiyama, governor of Nagasaki prefecture, and Hiroshi Ohashi, mayor of Nagasaki.

Declaring that past reports misquoted them as saying the atom bomb should not be used again, they said in a statement.

"Every sane person hopes with all his heart that it will not have to be used. But we have utmost confidence in the discretion of President Truman, to whom the free world owes so much, and whose constitutional duty it is to decide the question as far as the United States can decide it."

The four officials are among a 52-member delegation of Japanese government, business and labor leaders who arrived by plane yesterday from a three-week world

20 Clues Are Found To Causes of Many Types of Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Paris, July 24 (AP)—A look at the world gives about 20 clues to the causes of many types of human cancers, and how to avoid them.

These apparent causes lie in how you live, and where.

Scientists from nearly 50 nations compared notes this past week at the Fifth International Cancer Research Congress.

Three U. S. reports said cigarette smoking is apparently partly responsible for the rise in cancer of the lung.

Their evidence is "too conclusive to be ignored," said Dr. Charles S. Cameron, medical and scientific director of the American Cancer Society, in summing up the congress. He went on:

Cancer of the hard palate often occurs among East Indians who smoke by putting the burning end of the chutta leaf in their mouths.

Chewing betel nuts causes mouth cancer in Malaya, Indonesia and some parts of the Philippines.

Iodine Necessary

Too little iodine in water and food causes goiter and probably many thyroid cancers. This holds for the U. S. Great Lakes region, Switzerland and other areas.

Breast cancer seems lower in women in Japan and other countries whose custom is to nurse their babies. And women who have never borne children are far less likely to get cancer of the cervix.

Cancer of the genitals is not common among Jewish men and women. This probably is due to early circumcision of the males.

Cowboys in North and South America, Cossacks, Arabs and other horsemen rarely get cancer of the prostate gland. This might be due to some hormone influence, for "riding frequently reduces the size and endocrine (hormone) functions of the testes."

There are certain risks sometimes to industrial workers.

Oils that boil above 700 degrees Fahrenheit can cause skin cancers and American industry now "is taking steps to protect its workers," Dr. Cameron said.

U. S. workers are equally common among arsenic workers in Argentina and German Silesia.

Bladder cancer epidemics have broken out among aniline dye workers in Germany, Britain and the United States in the past. So did bone cancer among workers painting watch dials with radium. And cancer of the nose and pharynx is high among miners working with nickel and cobalt.

A tapeworm, cysticercus, apparently is involved in much cancer of the liver in the eastern Mediterranean countries and a wide belt across Asia. A parasite, bilharzia, is blamed for the high rate of bladder cancer among Egyptian field workers.

Sun and Skin Cancer

Light-skinned people constantly exposed to the sun often get skin cancer. Melanoma, or black cancer involving the chemicals that color and darken the skin, seems most common among persons who don't tan.

Modern toilet training of children, and regular adult schedules too, may account for some rectal and bladder cancers in humans.

Dr. Cameron said. Little rectal cancer is found among primitive African tribesmen who move their bowels after every meal, or whenever they feel the need.

Human studies like these teach much about how to avoid possible causes of cancer, and cut down the number of victims, Dr. Cameron said. A cancer meeting in Oxford, Eng., July 29-Aug. 4 will probe why geography so often turns up wide and startling differences in the amount and type of human cancers.

Man Accused of Killing Wife With His Fists

New York, July 24 (AP)—A 32-year-old marine engineer was accused today of beating his estranged wife to death with his fists in a quarrel over whether they should live together again.

The husband, William Large, was held for arraignment today on a homicide charge.

He was arrested early yesterday shortly after the body of his wife, Madeline, 27, was found on the living room floor of her apartment in Queens.

Their five-year-old son, Thomas, was asleep in another room when his mother was slain.

Assistant District Attorney Thomas Cullen said Large admitted killing his wife and quoted him as saying he had been drinking before he went to her home, and "I don't know what came over me."

Large was quoted as saying that before he beat his wife she had slapped him and raked her fingernails across his face.

Are Forming Party

Duesseldorf, Germany, July 24 (AP)—German Communists opposing Moscow's foreign policy are reported forming an independent Communist party here.

Schappe, former party leader ousted as a Titoist, said more than 100 leaders expelled by the German party met yesterday to get the new group going. Schappe said he expected "tens of thousands" of Communists to join them.

The new party, Schappe said, still regarded the Soviet Union as the "ideal and as the fatherland of the working class."

But West German Communists, he declared, should not follow the Kremlin's foreign policy line but should adapt itself to "specific conditions in West Germany."

Togo Dies at 68

Tokyo, July 24 (AP)—Shigenori Togo, 68, Japan's wartime foreign minister and a convicted war criminal, died yesterday of gall bladder and liver ailments, complicated by a heart attack.

Although under a 20-year sentence as a war criminal, Togo had been in hospitals outside Sugamo prison since May 17. He was the fourth major Japanese war criminal to die of natural causes.

The others were Fleet Adm. Osamu Nagano, former Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, and Gen. Yoshijiro Umezu. At the war crimes trials Togo insisted he had tried to prevent the war and had been duped by the military.

Praises Air Fighters

Tokyo, July 24 (AP)—General MacArthur says the performance of the Far East air forces in the Korean war exceeded "all expectations."

Lt. Gen. George Stratemeyer, F.E.A.F. commander, today relayed this MacArthur commendation to all of his commanders.

"The contribution of the Far East air forces in the Korean conflict has been magnificent. They have performed their mission beyond all expectations."

Four Men Escape With $5,000 in Holdup

New York, July 24 (AP)—Four holdup men escaped with $5,000 early today after heading 30 persons into the rear of a fashionable restaurant in Central Park south.

The robbery was in Stamper's Fleet Mignon Restaurant shortly after midnight. It was closing time, and most of the 30 persons in the restaurant and bar were employees.

Joseph Brody, night manager, told police two men had been sitting at the bar for an hour apparently making ready for the hold-up. They were joined by two other men, one of whom drew a pistol from a brief case and directed the holdup. Brody said he had seen some of the robbers in the restaurant in the past few days.

The holdup men apparently escaped in a waiting automobile.

The loot included about $4,500 from the restaurant's cash register, $150 from the bar till, $220 from a customer, $57 from Brody and $73 from the collection of waiters' tips.

Mrs. F. D. R. Inherits

New York, July 24 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will receive jewelry, silver and one-fourth of a "substantial" estate left by her kinswoman and god-mother, Mrs. Susan Ludlow Parish.

Her bequests were revealed yesterday after her will was filed in surrogate's court. The amount of the estate was not revealed. Among other gifts, she left a diamond and pearl necklace and her diamond engagement ring to the former first lady, whom she named as "daughter of my deceased cousin, Anna Hall Roosevelt."

Better Fruit Crop Expected in State

Albany, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—The fruit crop in New York state this year is expected to be "substantially better" than the 10-year average, although it will not reach the total of the 1949 harvest.

The state Agriculture Department estimated yesterday the 1950 production would total 580,000 tons of apples, peaches, pears, cherries and grapes.

This would be six per cent below 1949 production, but 42 per cent above the total in 1948.

The estimates, by crops:

Apples—18,095,000 bushels, 10 per cent less than 1949 but 54 per cent above 1948.

Peaches—1,023,000 bushels, compared with 1,428,000 last year and 1,114,000 in 1948.

Pears—1,035,000 bushels, 14 per cent under last year, but nearly three times the 1948 crop.

Sweet cherries—2,900 tons, same as 1949 and nearly equal to the good crop of 1948.

Sour cherries—28,100 tons, compared with 17,500 tons in 1949 and 20,500 in 1948.

Grapes—64,700 tons, compared with 48,400 tons in 1949 and 65,200 in 1948.

ISN'T ONE "NO!" ENOUGH?!

The old repudiated question of Housing, subsidized out of the hard-pressed Taxpayers' Pockets, is being dragged out of its grave again Wednesday night, July 26th, at a public hearing at the City Hall at 7:30 P. M.

Who has an axe to grind? Who insists on exploiting this matter, even though the voters of this city have decisively and consistently voted against Public Housing at every opportunity—almost two to one on every housing proposition on last November's ballot.

We would like to know whether any small group is to benefit—at the expense of the average citizen who is already hard pressed to pay increased taxes on his own small home.

It would be wise if you, too, were concerned. You will have to foot the bill whether you want it or not—so plan now to attend this hearing and tell our Common Council unmistakably—AGAIN—THAT WE DO NOT NEED AND DO NOT WANT A HOUSING PROJECT IN KINGSTON!

Four Are Rescued After Plane Crash

Port Washington, N. Y., July 24 (AP)—A private seaplane sank in Manhasset Bay early today after striking the mast of an anchored sailboat, and the four persons in the plane were rescued by fishermen.

The single-engine plane was coming in for a landing off the Toms Point Skyport at Manor Haven when it sheared off the top of the mast of the sloop Nautilus.

The four plane passengers, who were pitched into the bay, were not injured. Police said there was no one in the sailboat when the accident occurred at 1:20 a. m. (E.S.T.).

The plane, a Republic Seabee owned by the Skyport, was piloted by George Kalanta, 28, of 21-66 4th street, Astoria, Queens, New York city.

His passengers were: Mrs. Frances Hodges, 29, of Port Washington; Donald Plack, 24, of Manor Haven; adjacent to Port Washington; and his wife, Ruth, 25.

Manhasset Bay is an offshoot of Long Island Sound.

The plane caught fire from a gasoline flash and a wing came off as it struck the sloop's mast. The plane then turned on its side in the water and sank immediately.

Kalanta, a part-owner of the Skyport, had taken Mrs. Hodges and the Placks, all friends of his, on a night flight over New York city.

The rescuers were made by Port Washington men who were fishing in two rowboats. They are Norman C. Eato and Andrew W. Toner.

20,000 Workers Are Idle

New York, July 24 (AP)—Up to 20,000 building construction workers have been idled here and on Long Island as the result of a strike by teamsters in the building trades. Contractors estimated that almost all building will be halted by Wednesday if the strike lasts. The drivers, members of Local 282 of the A.F.L. Teamsters Union, walked out last Wednesday after rejecting an employer offer to raise wages from $13.08 to $16 a day and pay for a hospitalization plan. The union wants a $5 a day raise. Federal mediators called a bargaining session today to see if they could end the strike.

He holds hundreds of dollars in checks that citizens just haven't bothered to pick up. Most of them are for people who worked as judges or clerks in elections. The oldest is dated April, 1932.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

One who has gained the habit of "contrary" thinking cannot help but feel uneasy today because of the floundering about and wrong-guessing that have characterized the administration and defense officials in recent years.

The President's message to the Congress and address to the people, last Wednesday, are other examples of failure to meet the emergency head on.

The idea of "preaching" to the public about hoarding and reckless buying will have little, if any, effect. It is plainly an excuse not to tackle the problem of inflation because of political fears. Mr. Truman's talk merely gives lip-service to inflation, and it seems clear that he had his mind on the elections to come up in the fall. Otherwise, he would not have attempted to tease the public into doing right. All that one needs to do is to look back at the world-wide black markets that did a thriving business up to a few months ago if he wishes to learn how little anyone is interested in doing anything but taking care of himself. The old army expression applies to public buying as well as to other traits of human nature: "To heck with you, Jack; I'm doing all right."

The Ruminator happens to be opposed to almost every form of government control or dictatorship during peace times. How-

Maybe It's A Good Idea, But New Yorkers Aren't Rushing to Leave Town

By GEORGE CORNELL

Associated Press Staff Writer
New York, (AP)—The letter came from the home town.

"The time has come," it said, "for you to do what you said you would do."

That is: Get out of New York city.

New York is not home to a lot of people that live here, and the knifing back home these days are remembering old conversations that went something like this:

Big-city career kid—"You're absolutely right, Pop. New York city would be the first place they'd hit, if the world ever started throwing these atom-bombs around."

Pop—"Seems to me it's not a very safe place to be."

Career kid—"Well, it's nothing to worry about now. But if things ever begin to get hot, I wouldn't stay there on a bet."

Now it looks to Pop as if things were beginning to get hot, and his letters were saying so, although sometimes in just a semi-serious manner:

"You know," he writes, "this small-town life has got some compensations. The Russians don't even know we're on the map."

New York Softest Spot

The words stemmed from the fact that the atomic era had made the big, crowded cities the soft spots in the nation's defenses. As the biggest city, New York is the softest spot.

The giant metropolitan area contains about 14,000,000 people; the city itself, 8,000,000. Intensifying the congestion, 4,000,000 commuters swarm into the concrete heap of Manhattan every day via train, car, subway and bus.

Sometimes, the letters get real subtle:

"I saw your old boss the other day. He said he'd be glad to have you working for him again, if you ever get back this way."

There haven't been any indications around here of any abrupt, mass departures—yet.

Joseph A. Sinclair, secretary of the New York Commerce and Industry Association, says he hasn't heard of any industry pulling out and heading for the back country.

No Hideouts Yet

A lot of people say they're going to find a good hideout in the mountains," he said. "But I don't know of any that have done it."

The real estate people, however, have noted a revealing trend.

"The market in country places was remarkably good all through the last three months," said Robert Furman, of Previews, Inc. "I have an idea the general international unrest is in the back of their minds, and the A-bomb may have had something to do with it, but people don't come in here and say so."

Since the Korean flareup, Furman added, it appears that many people are in a state of indecision. "They're watching the front pages," he said, "trying to make up their minds what to do."

But the folks back home already are singing the old song that goes: "You Oughta Move—Oove, Way Out on the Outskirts of Town."

That's what many New Yorkers apparently are doing according to preliminary 1950 census figures. These showed a 60 per cent population rise in the major suburbs, compared to a mere 5 per cent upswing in the city.

It's so peaceful in the country

Nation's Business Boom May Take Care of War Spending

New York, July 24 (AP)—There's an even chance the nation's business boom can absorb the $10,000,000,000 military spending program without critical disruption of our standards of civilian life.

It depends on how well inflation can be avoided. Price boosts would reduce the amount of goods—military or other—that a dollar will buy. And this could make the whole program much more costly. Today no one knows to what extent present purchasing power of the dollar will be maintained.

President Truman warns there will be repercussions on our domestic economy. But he also has a plan aimed at keeping them in reasonable proportion.

From an economic standpoint some persons and some businesses are likely to suffer, at least temporarily.

As consumer production is cut back some workers will be out of jobs. But output of military goods will call for added manpower in other industries, such as aircraft and shipbuilding.

Effect on Everybody
Here are ways in which nearly every one will be affected.

Your taxes—both individual and business—will go up. If the controls the President asks become effective, you'll find credit terms a little stiffer when you go to buy automobiles, television set or almost any other article.

The government's problem is: To spend $10 billion without stirring an inflation that could open wide cracks in the economy.

Considerable steel, aluminum and other materials will be diverted to military use. No one yet has said how much of each will be needed. As they are diverted there will be less for civilian use.

This means less raw material to build houses, automobiles and a variety of items such as refrigerators, kitchen cabinets, radio and television sets, etc.

Reduced supply of these could upset the balance that keeps business stable, unless demand declines at the same time.

To put a checkrein on wild demand is the aim of the President's program. He seeks authority to control such main props of the business boom as consumer credit, construction and steel consumption.

The theory is: The nation's output of goods and services is at an annual rate of nearly $270 billion. If some 4 per cent of demand for these goods and services could be restrained, it would balance the military spending, even if the $10 billion is spent in a year.

Wants Power to Allocate
The President called it "substantial redirection of economic resources."

Obviously some industries will supply more than others to the military program. Tanks, airplane engines, ships will require large tonnages of steel, for instance.

To assure such supplies, the President wants direct authority to establish priorities, to allocate materials, and to limit the amounts used in non-essential manufacture.

Many businessmen and industrialists disagree over the means of accomplishing this.

They say: Tell us what the military needs and we'll provide it. They contend voluntary industry controls worked well in the latter days of World War II and should be used again, instead of turning the job over to a government agency. They say the priorities bogged down early in the war when federal agencies issued them without regard to total supplies available.

Steel Output Large
The steel industry is producing at an all-time record rate of around 100 million tons a year. Millions of tons could be diverted without crippling normal civilian manufacture.

And many in the industry say such diversion could be best handled by a committee set up by the industry itself.

In the housing field, where the government has moved to tighten mortgage terms, a move toward voluntary controls has been initiated.

The National Association of Home Builders this week urged its 17,000 members voluntarily to cut back their starts on new homes, which it said reached the record high of 142,000 in June.

Thomas P. Coogan of Miami, N.A.H.B. president, also called on the builders to put purchases on a day-to-day basis and avoid stockpiling or hoarding of materials.

Sound Move on Property
Thomas S. Holden of New York, president of F. W. Dodge Corp., construction news and market specialists, said curtailing of real estate credit was a sound move "even without the Korean crisis."

Holden said the government has been "overstimulating the housing boom" by its easy credit policy and that the market already was ripe for correction either by credit restrictions or buyer resistance.

He predicted that "unless further and more stringent curbs are invoked, volume is apt to remain relatively high."

This probably holds true for most sections of our economy. Industry is turning out goods at a pace never before equaled. The demands of the civilian population also are at a record high. But a moderate belt-tightening could make a vast amount of productive capacity available for the military program.

To Keep Up Pace
Producers of basic materials—

steel, building materials—will maintain their present high-speed manufacture pace. Whatever cut-backs occur will affect the fabricators of the materials who will have less to work with, after military allocations are met. And many of these manufacturers got into war production before and may again.

There will be inflationary pressures resulting from the military program. "Scare buying" and hoarding at any level, from consumer to manufacturer, could put such a squeeze on prices that severe cost increases would result.

If this happens, the President has warned he will not hesitate to recommend price control and rationing.

Nylon Fortress

Leicester, England.—(AP) Stocking manufacturers are turning their factories into fortresses to repel the daring raids of nylon thieves. They are putting up walls of sheet steel eight to 12 feet high around their plants and lacing the factory roofs with steel wire.

Nylon stockings are still scarce in Britain which exports almost its entire production of the fashionable hosiery.

Store sales are mostly "under-the-counter" to favored customers at 12 shillings elevenpence ($1.81) a pair. Black market nylon fetches 16 shillings elevenpence ($2.57) a pair.

Thrift Ordered for Israel

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP)—If you want to buy toothpaste or shaving cream in Israel, you've got to return the used container. Adding a little more austerity to an austere country, the salvage control section of the ministry of supply and rationing is out to save just about everything that can be saved.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Analyze Discards For Their Credibility

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"This may sound a little stupid to you," writes a Canadian correspondent. "We can't tell what this hand proves. Some of us think that East was pretty smart, while others think that South was pretty dumb. Would you give us your opinion?"

"West opened the seven of spades, the king was played from dummy, and East dropped the queen. As it happened, I was the East player. Dropping the queen of spades didn't look like an exceptionally smart play to me. It's just the sort of false card that you might try twice every day and three times on Sunday."

"Be that as it may, it had a big effect on South. He drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then led the ten of spades from his hand. West naturally played a low spade, and declarer let the ten ride for a finesse to me."

"The rest was very sad for South. I took the jack of spades, drew dummy's last trump with my jack, and then led the clubs. We wound up with five tricks, setting the contract two."

"After the hand had been played, North delivered a few off-the-cuff remarks about declarer's line of play. South pointed out that his play would have been very good if the queen of spades really had been a singleton."

"Did South merely make an unfortunate guess, or did he make a bad mistake in judgment? Was there any way for South to know what the true situation was?"

I am afraid that South was more to be blamed than pitted. If he had thought the hand out carefully, he would have seen what the true situation was. East's false card was a good attempt, but it should not have succeeded against a really alert declarer.

If the queen of spades had really been a singleton, West's spade holding at the beginning of the hand would have been jack-seven-six-two. How often does a player lead the seven from such a holding as this?

Granted that many players make deceptive opening leads from time to time. Even so, you must play hands on the assumption that your opponents have not suddenly taken this particular moment in the world's history to make an especially unorthodox lead. If you assume that your opponents are sensible human beings, they will fool you on perhaps one hand out of a thousand. If you play every hand on the optimistic assumption, you will fool yourself on several hundred hands out of a thousand.

In short, South should have been almost sure that West had not led the seven of spades from a holding of jack-seven-six-two. Undoubtedly West had led "the top of nothing"—in which case East had the jack of spades still in his hand.

After winning the first trick with the ace of spades, declarer should take one trump with the ace and return the ten of spades. When West follows, dummy should play the king of spades, thus dropping East's jack.

Declarer would then draw another trump with the king and lead a spade to dummy's nine. If East ruffed, declarer would get back to dummy by ruffing a club. If East failed to ruff, declarer would continue dummy's spades, discarding his losing diamond and one losing club in the process. By either method, South would have no trouble making his contract of four hearts.

It Almost Reads Your Mind!

Oh, how restful and easy and relaxing it is to sit at the wheel of a 1950 Cadillac—and cruise down your favorite highway!

Men write from all sections of the country to say that they drive their Cadillacs hundreds of miles each week—for the sheer joy of driving.

A man whose name you would instantly recognize says he can scarcely wait for Saturday morning—when he slides behind the wheel of his Cadillac to drive out his week's recreation.

You'll never believe it until you try it—for it's an unbelievable experience.

The moment you get behind the wheel, you sense that something out of the ordinary is about to happen.

The big, deep-cushioned seat all but absorbs you. The slender, obedient wheel is in exactly the right position for resting your hands. Vision—ahead of you and all around you—is unobstructed. There is only the enticing highway, beckoning you on.

And then you're away—so quietly, so effortlessly, so smoothly that only the objects along the roadside give you a sense of motion.

The great motor—so miserly of gasoline that a single tankful is usually enough for a full day's drive—sends back a thrill each time you touch the throttle. You ride as if on a magic carpet. And you hear only the soft rush of the wind—streamlining past like a lullaby.

And how easy it all is! The steering wheel seems to foresee the curves and turns. The big, powerful brakes are as soft as velvet. And the marvelous balance imparts a sense of security that puts you completely at ease.

Yes—it's a wonderful, wonderful experience—which you ought to try for yourself. One hour at the wheel—and we're sure you'll feel . . . that it almost reads your mind!

"Rip Van Winkle"—in miniature—will visit Stone Ridge Wednesday at 8 p. m., when Janet and Ronald Herrick, present the Herrick Marionettes in their puppet adaptation of the famous Catskill Mountain legend.

The legend will be enacted in the Stone Ridge Grange Hall, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The Herricks have been giving puppet shows for the past 15 years to children and adults, traveling from Maine to Florida with them.

Mr. Herrick, who taught puppetry at the famous Angelo Patri school in New York, has built the life-like puppets that appear in the show, painted the scenery, built the props to scale and designed the artistic stage and lighting effects. Mrs. Herrick spent many hours in research before costuming the cast.

The Herrick Marionettes have appeared before many clubs and schools throughout the East, including the St. Moritz, Hotel Astor, and the Synod House of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York city.

Tickets for "Rip Van Winkle" may be purchased at the following stores: Cornish, Brissa, Kuhn's, Arra's and the Elmendorf Gas Station.

The history of the marionettes is older than the memory of mankind. Marionettes have been found in Egyptian tombs, and they are mentioned in ancient Sanskrit manuscripts.

Deep in the catacombs of Rome, the early Christians enacted religious dramas with marionettes, while before the Holy Sepulcher at Jerusalem, marionettes played the first Passion play.

Until the revival of marionettes about 20 years ago, very little was known in this country about an art as old, possibly older than the theatre itself. When the United States was in its infancy, there were puppet showmen who toured the colonies with their marionettes, but for many years puppetry was dead. Today, however, numerous marionette companies travel throughout the country presenting performances that are surpassed by none in Europe. The "Herrick Marionettes" were among the pioneers in America.

Warm Comedy, 'Late Christopher Bean', Will Be Next Offering at Playhouse

MARY WICKES

LARRY GATES

As the fourth production of the current 1950 season, the Margaret Webster Company will present

Sidney Howard's famed American comedy, "The Late Christopher Bean" for one week beginning tomorrow through Sunday, July 30 at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Sidney Howard, whose claim to fame is rather firmly embedded through various dramatic offerings, not to mention the Pulitzer Prize Award has written in "The Late Christopher Bean" a highly-warm and amusing comedy of Rene Fouches' French caricature, "Fronze Garde a la Peinture."

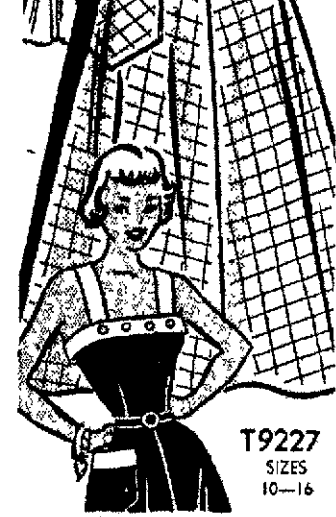

Starring in the leading role of "Abby" will be Mary Wickes, who has offered Broadway audiences many stellar performances. She received nation-wide acclaim for her portrayals in "Apple of His Eye" with Walter Huston; as "Miss Preen" with Monty Woolley in "The Man Who Came to Dinner"; with Margaret Sullivan in "Stage Door"; with Ethel Merman and Jimmy Durante in "Stars in Your Eyes"; to mention only a few. Miss Wickes has also appeared in many outstanding motion pictures and her list of radio and television engagements is equally impressive.

Larry Gates will be seen in the role of "Dr. Haggett." Audiences will well remember Mr. Gates for his highly amusing performance as "Christopher Sly" in Miss Webster's production of "The Taming of the Shrew" last season. His Broadway assignments include performances in "Madame You Walk," "Twelfth Night" with Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans and "Much Ado About Nothing."

Canada Humphrey, whose performance as Olga last week, was met with enthusiasm, brings to the stage in "The Late Christopher Bean" another example of her skill as an actress in the role of Mrs. Haggett. Miss Humphrey, who is an alumna of Smith College, is a stalwart performer in the American Repertory Theatre productions of "Henry VIII," "What Every Woman Knows," and "Alice in Wonderland."

Evening performances for "The Late Christopher Bean" will begin at 8:45 with a Saturday matinee at 2:45. Reservations may be made by calling Woodstock 2015.

UNPLEASANT LACK OF CLOTHING

A round-robin letter from a large office asks me the following: "We are embarrassed: One of our business associates, who is rather amply endowed with curves, wears sweaters during the winter which are several sizes too small for her, and now that the weather is hot she wears sun-back dresses with jacket or bolero. Even if she would keep this on all day—which she doesn't—most of her dresses are cut so low in front that no imagination is required whatsoever. Her blouses also plunge practically to her waistline. Could you print an article dealing with proper attire for offices? A word from you would likely do more good than thousands of words from us."

The real answer to this is that her employers are quite able to dispense with her services and let her go. The office manager should call her attention to her unbecoming appearance. To suggest that a sufficient number of you go in a group to the manager and explain the situation is the best answer I can make.

Announcing Two Marriage Ceremonies

Dear Mrs. Post: I was married six months ago. It was never announced and so far as we know no one but our families knew. The other day, to please our families we had a religious ceremony in the chapel of my church and now my parents would like to send announcements. But which date should be used and how would the wording go?

Answer: I think the best advice is to follow the wording which was used by a member of the late-war brides:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones announce the civil marriage of their daughter Jane Gay

on Thursday, the fourth of June at City Hall, New York and the religious ceremony on Tuesday, the eighth of September at Trinity Chapel, New York

Showers for the bride, the new home owner, and stork showers are popular friendly American customs. Mrs. Post's leaflet E-13 gives some ideas for gifts and the parties. However, she is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Visits to Old Houses To Be Special Treat At New Paltz Fair

Visits to the famous old stone houses of Huguenot street, New Paltz, will be permitted Saturday, August 5, as part of the annual fair of the New Paltz Dutch Reformed Church. Members of the Ladies' Aid, in the costume of the period when the homes were built, will act as hostesses.

Among the oldest houses in the state, the Huguenot homesteads have been kept in good repair and retain their original atmosphere. Huguenot street claims to have the largest concentration of such old houses in the state.

Another unique feature of the fair will be the community Cook Book, compiled by the Dutch Guild Organization from the favorite recipes of New Paltz homemakers.

The women of the Kerk League will have special articles on sale at a number of booths, and will sponsor children's events, including a movie.

There will be an art show, and a display of antiques, square and round dancing, and a meal served by the women of the Dutch Guild.

Wants to Help U. S.

MARTHA HATTIONIEMI

She came to the United States from Finland to study physiotherapy, but Miss Martha Hattioniemi has switched her interest to the war effort.

This blonde student at Williams Lake summer resort told a Freeman reporter she'd like to join American troops as a nurse, and stressed that she'd had experience on the firing line.

In a visit to the office of the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, Miss Hattioniemi learned she couldn't volunteer, because she's in the country on a student visa. And she isn't a graduate registered nurse.

Miss Hattioniemi said she studied physiotherapy nursing for four months at the Miami Health Institute, Florida, before visiting Williams Lake.

Her home at Terijoki, Finland, was bombed to ruins under peace terms, she said, and she became a displaced person.

During Finland's armed struggle with the Soviet Union, Miss Hattioniemi was in the army nursing auxiliary (Lotta Svard), she said, and saw duty on the firing line for over a year. Later she served on the home front.

She chose not to elaborate on her experience in her Russian border homeland, fearing for the security of relatives still living there.

120 Register for Y.M.C.A. Day Camp

The Kingston Y.M.C.A. Day Camp started its fifth week today with another registration of over 120 campers. The camp is situated at DeWitt Lake and the boys and girls travel to camp daily by buses which leave the Y.M.C.A. and the Crown street bus terminal at 9 a. m. and return at 4 p. m.

All Day Camp summer championships will start this week and extend into next week's program, which is the sixth and final week. Much stress will be placed on the instructions of the boys and girls, who are trying to swim their first 25-yard distance, which means that many will be made swimmers before the 1950 season ends.

Mr. Schaefer reports that there are more 6 and 7 years old campers this year than usual, and many of this age group are swimming. Blair Craig of Samsonville, who is six years of age, made his first 25-yard distance two weeks ago and his 50-yard distance last Friday. He is the first in his age group to accomplish this distance.

Camp championships will be set-up in separate events for both boys and girls. They will comprise tetherball, badminton, horseshoes, ring toss, darts, fish pond scoring, duck pin bowling, ping pong, checkers and Chinese checkers. The swimming and diving and field and track also will be organized.

Boys and girls going to camp this week for the first time are: George and Joseph Uhl, Patricia Gallagher, Thomas Bridges, Susan Umpleby, Theresa Misasi.

We Get a Dishwasher

By FRANK TRIPP

Our Anna has said for years that she didn't want a dishwasher. Almost anything that Anna says goes around our house. This is a dangerous statement to make because she never takes advantage—but she has her own ideas, expresses them freely and they get attention.

Perhaps I could understand Anna's viewpoint better than could Fanny. My workshop is full of trick gadgets that take longer to set up than it takes to do a job by old-fashioned methods. That was Anna's notion of an electric dishwasher.

It has taken five years to sell her one and then she only reluctantly accepted it for the Summer place. Why I should have been on Fanny's side of this long sales campaign and not on Anna's, I'll have to explain, for dishwashers don't come a dime a dozen.

Fanny and I have accumulated considerable posterity in the 46 years we've enjoyed together. After the first-born, Anna has mothered each of them on the way up—and their children too. We love 'em all, and Anna, but we still prize week-ends and periods of solitude when we can be alone; like when we started with our 15 a week.

AT SUCH TIMES we can let almost everything in the house-work line accumulate for the return of the retinue—except dirty dishes. Fanny's that fussy sort who wouldn't hide 'em under the sink. After every meal they had to be washed, and since these calm holidays are much of my seeking, I washed and Fanny wiped.

Now you wouldn't think that two people could dirty enough dishes to worry about. The time consumed didn't amount to much but the idea that it was something to be done on the dot, three times a day didn't fit the habit of a guy who'd rather do things when he gets ready.

It gave me new insight into that overworked and irritating passage about, "a woman's work is never done." I was for storing them.

away; neatly at first; then I got so I didn't care, neat or not.

I can't say that Anna exactly concurred in my scheme to let the dirty dishes pile up till she returned. Her energy and willingness didn't extend quite that far. Nevertheless she was cute enough not to attack the notion for she knew that Fanny never would stand for it.

A dishwasher was my only out, the only way I could escape the single obnoxious chore that marred these delightful periods alone with Fanny. Every time I saw a dishwasher ad I developed more self pity. Finally I took the bull by the horns and bought one.

ANNA CAPITULATED only to the extent that she didn't stand guard in her kitchen to ward off the intruder. The pay-off comes that I'm having the last laugh. It cost me plenty but it's worth it.

Anna has fallen for the sleek contraption, hook, line and sinker. She first approached it with contempt; then accepted what to her is most revolutionary practice; the very thing that I've bellowed for years—that there's no sense in washing dishes after every meal. All you need is a respectable place to hide them.

When the man said, "Don't run the dishwasher until it is full; let your dishes accumulate," I laughed all over. Because the man said it, Fanny and Anna took it for gospel and nodded their approval.

I was out of pocket but had required as dishwasher and won a point. The idea was slurringly rejected as slovenly housekeeping but now it is polite procedure.

Thus at long last we have a hideout for dirty dishes. There always has been as much room and obscurity under the sink—but that wasn't respectable. I can feel it coming. I'm going to be stuck for another for town, where it won't help me one bit.

Every time he sticks his nose into a woman's business, the family meal ticket takes it on the chin.

Postwar Europe

(The following is one of a series of letters from a former resident of this area, who has returned to Europe for an extended stay and gives his impressions of postwar Europe, as seen through the eyes of a civilian going back to the scenes he knew as a soldier during the war.)

Trouville

Dear Editor: There are not many real beach resorts to be found in the northern part of France, but Trouville and Deauville, the twin resorts located on the Normandy coast, not far from the great port of Le Havre, are among the nicest.

For the traveler or the native Frenchman, a little weary of the humidity of Paris in the dog-days of summer, a pleasant, restful, four hour drive over winding country roads is just the tonic. You can get a good glance at the French countryside outside of the hustle of metropolitan Paris on a good sunny afternoon, when traffic is light and the air is fine.

Before you realize it, the hours skip by like the miles and you find yourself coming upon Trouville and Deauville—for the two towns must be considered as one, they are so close together and almost exactly alike in many respects. Both are beach resorts for the summer vacation; both are only separated by a narrow stretch of water; and both have their gambling casinos and rows of gaily decked cabanas for the bathers on the long beach.

Since so much of the social life centers around the big sporty gambling casinos, which are cut from the Monte Carlo pattern, recently a helicopter service was inaugurated to whisk players by air right to the entrance of the casino. It is quite a sight to see these fly-like planes alighting like so many tiny insects upon the ample grounds of the Sporting Club almost as soon as they arrive in town.

For beach areas, both Trouville and Deauville compare favorably with many of the famed southern resorts along the Riviera, which the French call the Côte d'Azur. These southern French places along the Mediterranean flourish during the winter months and early spring, when Trouville and Deauville are only a memory.

The gay atmosphere of Trouville in the midst of the season is really a sight to see. Good bands play music that floats out upon the surf, as couples dance by moonlight on the patios of the night clubs and cafes, all decked out in gala array for the summer holidays.

For an interesting day's side-trip, you can take a boatride in an open launch over to Le Havre, only a short distance away. You have to be a good sailor for this trip, as the pounding surf gets fairly heavy along the rocky coast, and unless you're used to the unpredictable ways of small boats in a heavy sea, you'll prefer taking the bus back from Le Havre for the return journey.

Le Havre, which ranks as one of France's largest seaports, is the place most tourists first see of Europe as they alight from the gigantic ocean liners, which almost daily make their way into the vast harbor. Nearby boattrains are lined up and waiting to take the travelers to Paris and other points in France and other countries of Europe, and the boat terminal is always a beehive of activity for arriving and departing boattrains.

Le Havre itself is still scarred by the heaving bombing it took during the war, and you can see the charred hulks of many half-be sure, shysters in the Washington press and radio corps who apparently think congressional immunity was invented to permit them to incite stooges to place upon the record false charges against patriotic men so that their papers may then vilify them. This is a common abuse of congressional immunity by the very sort of hack who would taunt a loyal senator for legitimate conduct. Actually, more appropriate use of the immunity never was made than by Senator McCarthy.

Henry Wallace often has been described, in mitigation of his conduct, as an idealist, mystic and dreamer. These are somehow winsome terms although, in combination, in Henry's case, they always have seemed to me to suggest a belief that he was, let us say, unreliable. It is a strange fact, too, that, so far as I know, none of those who give him this harmless character ever has weighed the value of the strange letters which Henry undoubtedly wrote to his guru, Nicholas Roerich. I never was able to establish any ulterior political purpose, but in the sense of any better evidence of Henry's vagueness and gullibility than this correspondence. To me, the quality of it softens Henry's guilt in running with the Communists and standing forth as their candidate in 1948 although he maintained throughout his "campaign" that he was not a Communist himself. I don't believe he is, in the sense of being a party member, but his political convictions are mixed up in a wild swirl of spiritual economics and oriental esoterics.

Now Henry has walked out on his own party, the so-called Progressive, which was all the Communist party that we had in 1948, but more in sorrow than in anger. He wants peace as he has been proclaiming ever since he walked out of Truman's cabinet and his insinuation always has been that anyone who disagreed with his incoherencies was hell bent for war. The agony of that is that probably not one American has wanted this war of Stalin's and that Henry, though doubtless sincere, did more than any other American to comfort and aid Stalin on the road to the 38th parallel.

When the "liberation" comes and the abundant life of the concentration camps is opened for patriotic Americans, who then would be more appropriate to head the traditional people's party than Henry Wallace? Several high unioners come to mind but none quite so mushy as Henry would be and capable of understanding and getting along comfortably with the "advisers" who usually are sent in to assist the new democracy along the road to "recovery."

Am I unduly pessimistic? God grant it. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Colonials Tounce New York Firemen, 7 to 2, in Last Game as Team

Merola Cracks Homer; Rome Colonels Offer Emil Gall Job as Manager

636 Paid See Contest

Never a loser except in the hearts of much too many fans in Kingston, the Colonial nine closed out a baseball cycle Saturday night at municipal stadium, by thrashing the New York Firemen, 7 to 2.

Today, the various players who represented the City of Kingston with considerable success during the abbreviated Colonial League campaign are scattering to various parts of the country to continue their organized ball careers.

To the bitter end, the faithful few were seated in their regular locations in the concrete stands. The paid attendance of 636 proved that independent ball will hardly inspire a mass of cash customers to the uptown ball park. On the other hand the weather was not the kind you would expect in July. But then summer never did get started in this neck of the woods.

Johnny Manopoli and Lefty Tony Placante eight-hitted the Smoke Eaters into submission, while the Colonials pounded starter Harry Waldron out of the box in two innings to build up their victory reserve.

Merola Homers

Frank Merola pounded a terrific home run over the center field fence to get the Colonials off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning. The ball sailed over the pickets and center for one of the best clouts of the season.

The game was part of "Bob Browning Night" sponsored by Joyce-Schirlick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the popular newscaster was presented to the crowd by Commander Ed Parmelee of the V.F.W. While microphone so close at hand, it was inevitable that Browning would say a few words. And he did, to the amusement and enjoyment of the spectators who gave him a rousing cheer. Members of Joyce-Schirlick Post then presented him with a cocktail set.

The Colonials brought in a couple of old favorites to complete the outfield berths. Billy Ostrom played in center and Charlie Neff was in left. Neff singled to right on his first trip to the plate.

Waldron, the Firemen's starter, was a southpaw with a fluke windup that confused everybody in the park except the Colonial catcher. After Waldron's circuit clout sent them winging ahead 1-0, they chased across another pair in the second on successive singles by Rudy Karson, Charlie Neff and Johnny Walther. A passed ball delivered Neff.

Frank Merola walked to open the third, Neff singled and Ralph Matzer clipped a one bouncer for a 4-0 bulge. Neff jammed into a DP but Walther's double in to the left centerfield alley scored Matzer and Karson to make it 6-0.

Karson On Spree

Rudy Karson, who enjoyed a "3 for 3" night with three singles and a walk, drove in the seventh run in the eighth inning when Ralph Matzer reached on Second Base. Karson Miggins had thrown.

Manopoli yielded a single run in the second on Veth's single to the left field corner and Als' singleton. In the fifth the Firemen put together a pair of singles by Fernandez and Miggins and a base on balls for their second marker. Placante checked them with two hits in the last three innings.

SIDELINERS: Billy Ostrom, imported from Poughkeepsie, batted leadoff for perhaps the first time in his career. . . Billy got a handle hit fluke double over the third sacker's head and then drove centerfielder Als to deepest center for a long fly. . . Charles Neff had a mixture of good and bad luck. . . He pounded two singles, one a beautiful hit-and-run slash into right field, and then homered in a pair of DPs. . . Frank Merola's blast sailed over the fence in dead center for the longest ball hit into that sector this season. . . Centerfielder Als made a gaudy, running catch of Ralph Matzer's sinking liner in the first. . . Ostrom made a couple of acrobatic catches on his first two chances and then settled down to normalcy. . . Johnny Walther and Charlie Neff were victims of Herbert Fernandez's beautifully executed pickoff play at second base. . . Nick Pepio almost had his first home run shot over the right field wall in the fifth, White making the catch behind the picket fence. . . Fernandez's pitching motion made him a dead ringer for Dirty Dean. Unfortunately for the smoke eaters, the resemblance ended there. . . Placante had great stuff in his three-inning stint, plus a bit of wildness. . . He fanned four and walked a pair, uncoiled a wild pitch and got the dangerous Herb White, former Yankee chameleon, on a popout with the bases loaded in the ninth. Plans for tomorrow's game indefinite but Colonial officials assured the crowd that a contest would be played on August 26 in conjunction with a big prize award. . . Ralph Matzer made a sensational game-ending catch of White's left to short right field.

Snead's Chips Tie Ferrier's Putts

St. Paul, Minn., July 24 (AP)—It was chip shots against putting as Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, Va., and Jim Ferrier of San Francisco met today in a playoff for first place in the St. Paul $15,000 Open.

Snead's ability to place chip shots where they would do the most good brought him a seven-under-par 65 yesterday in the final 18 holes of the scheduled 72-hole tournament. And it was Ferrier's putting that kept him in the running.

The two wound up tied at 276. Ferrier carded a one-under-par 71 for the 6,557-yard Keller course. They were two strokes ahead of their nearest competition, British amateur champion Frank Stranahan, on the Ohio, and Jerry Barber, Philadelphia club pro.

Stranahan shot a 71 for low amateur honors in the tourney, while Barber collected third money of $1,400 after his par 72.

FANCY-STEPPING FOR DOUBLE PLAY

Gerry Coleman, Yankees' second baseman, steps high as he whips ball to first after making force play on sliding Johnny Lipon, Tigers' shortstop, in first inning of New York-Detroit game at Yankee Stadium. George Kell, Tigers' third baseman who started action with a grounder to Phil Rizzuto, was out at first to complete double play. Detroit won, 6-5, to retain their league lead.

Major League Roundup

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Whiz Kids are performing beyond Manager Eddie Sawyer's fondest expectations.

Sawyer, who brought his young charges home a surprise third last season, said in the spring that he would settle for an encore this year.

At the moment it appears that the Phils will better their 1949 deeds. In many quarters the Phils are looked upon as the next National League champions.

The lone fly in the ointment is the imminent departure of Curt Simmons, 21-year-old star left-hander, for a tour of duty with the National Guard. Simmons leaves July 29 for a 14-day hitch at Indiantown Gap, Pa. During that time the Phils are at home for 17 games.

Wins 18th Game

Simmons recorded his 13th victory yesterday as the Phils cooled off the Cincinnati Reds in a doubleheader and gained undisputed possession of first place.

The $65,000 bonus beauty turned back the Reds, 12-4, in the opener. The Phils took the second, 7-4, behind Russ Meyer and Jim Konstanty to snap their tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for the top rung. The Cards beat the Boston Braves, 8-4, in a single encounter.

Simmons scattered ten hits and fanned seven while his mates came up with a 15-hit attack that included a pair of home runs by Willie Jones and one apiece by Andy Seminick and Del Ennis.

Lefty Al Brazie, with help in the ninth from Harry Brecheen, stopped the Braves on 12 hits, the same number the Cards scored off of Bob Chipman and Buckly Walters. The Cards however backed up Brazie with four doubleplays.

The loss dumped the Braves from third to fourth place, with the Brooklyn Dodgers moving up. The Dodgers outslugged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11-6. The Bums broke a 6-6 tie with a four-run rally in the eighth that Gil Hodges featured with a three-run homer.

Jones' One-Hitter

Sheldon Jones, knocked out in each of his last four starts, turned in the pitching gem of the day—a 3-0, one-hit victory for the New York Giants over the Chicago Cubs in the second game of a doubleheader.

The Giants also won the first game, 5-3, with Wes Westrum knocking in three runs, one on his 16th home run. Larry Jansen went the distance to gain his 10th victory.

In the equally close American League pennant scramble, the pace-setting Detroit Tigers staged a two-out ninth-inning rally to whip the runner-up New York Yankees, 6-5. The win boosted the Tigers' edge to a game and a half. A victory by the Yankees, who won the first two games of the series, would have enabled them to take the lead.

With two down and a man on, Hoot Evers, Gerry Priddy and Don Holloway singled to turn the tide. Allie Reynolds yielded the first two hits and Kolloway's game-winning blow came off Joe Page.

Lemon Wins 15th

Bob Lemon became the major's biggest winner. He turned in his 15th triumph for the Cleveland Indians, who beat the Washington Senators, 6-2.

The Boston Red Sox whipped the St. Louis Browns, 6-2. Ellis Kinder went all the way to gain his 10th conquest.

Philadelphia vacated last place in favor of the Browns by taking a twin bill from the Chicago White Sox, 2-1 and 4-4.

This is the season of club championships and we got quite a jolt at the Dutchess Country Club this week, when a member of the tournament committee informed us that all matches in the championship scratch flight are played within a week.

There is no dawdling such as you find in the average club. If you do not appear for the daily match, your opponent wins by default. It may sound like a tough policy but, after all, if you're going to conduct a Class A championship tournament, it can be done in only one style—Class A.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

One clubhouse sharpie who seldom goes awry is willing to bet even money that Alvie Boice and Leon Randall will repeat their 50-hole city title clash. . . . Ed Remmert and the department got "hook" twice on the beautiful Dutchess layout. . . . Once by John Van Gonsle and Van Haver, the second time by Van Gonsle's camera. . . . Tommy McNamara, the popular pro, was busy in the pro shop and the annual championship matches were finishing up on the 18th green. . . . A large crowd swarmed around the clubhouse veranda. . . . There was a considerable stir of excitement since Tom McCarthy had eliminated Big Hank Kowal the day before, 2 and 1. . . . Giant, affable Dick Perkins had just let McCarthy off the hook on the 17th hole the day we watched and veteran Tommy went on to win on the 18th hole, playing a miraculous 4-iron shot stiff on the flag from deep in the rough. . . . The Dutchess course is one layout where you can find use for practically every club in the bag. . . . If we recall correctly, we used several of them many times over. . . . too many.

Of Men and Mice:

Charlie DeStefano will conduct a 27-hole Northeastern P.G.A. Open today at College Hill in Poughkeepsie. . . . Alex Gerlak will compete. . . . Carl Husta came down from Wiltwyck and banged a 32 at Twaalskill. . . . Tommy Danaher and the tournament committee have the 1950 championships at Wiltwyck moving in grand style. . . . Lew Smith deserves plenty of praise for his brilliant promotion in the recent Calculata. . . . Next year the kiddy should hit the one-G mark. . . . Marion Huist of Poughkeepsie recently set a new women's mark for the I.B.M. course with a 77. . . . Catskill Country Club will be the scene of the annual Pro-Ladies Northeastern P.G.A. tournament on Monday, July 31. . . . At stake is the Guy Ralph trophy won last year by Cheshire, Saratoga Spa, and his team.

A Couple of Stories:

All the cocky confidence that made Walter Hagen the best was wrapped up in his favorite expression. Hagen once bet that he could tie the course record of a southern club, although the record was 67 and he had never played the layout. Club members wagered $5,000. The Hag stepped up to a 14-foot putt on the 18th green, needing to sink it to win his bet. Gunning at the tense gallery, he tapped the ball and while it was still rolling, yelped:

"Pay me, suckers!"

"They did, and Hagen's lifetime slogan was born.

Never without a good story, Gene Sarazen, the Squire of Germantown, tells about being Lord Halifax's dinner guest at the British Embassy in Washington in the summer of 1945.

"What are you doing here?" the ambassador wanted to know.

"I'm on my way to the P.G.A.," replied Sarazen.

"What department of the government is that?" asked Lord Halifax.

Asked to name the best golfer he ever saw, Sarazen gives you the composite player instead.

"He would have a Bobby Jones head," he explains. "Lawson Little's shoulders, Byron Nelson's arms, Walter Hagen's heart, Ben Hogan's concentration, Bobby Cruikshank's legs and Sam Snead's rhythm. . . ."

Danny The Duffer: Consider the marvelous philosophy of Bobby Locke, the South American putting genius: "The only difference between a short putt and a long putt is that you hit the long putt harder. . . ."

Four Colonials to Sunbury, Pa. In Class B Interstate League

Karson, Manopoli Aspromonte, Merola Included in Deal

While week-end developments foreshadowed only spot attractions for the remainder of the 1950 baseball season in Kingston, Colonial officials announced the sale or transfer of virtually every man on the roster.

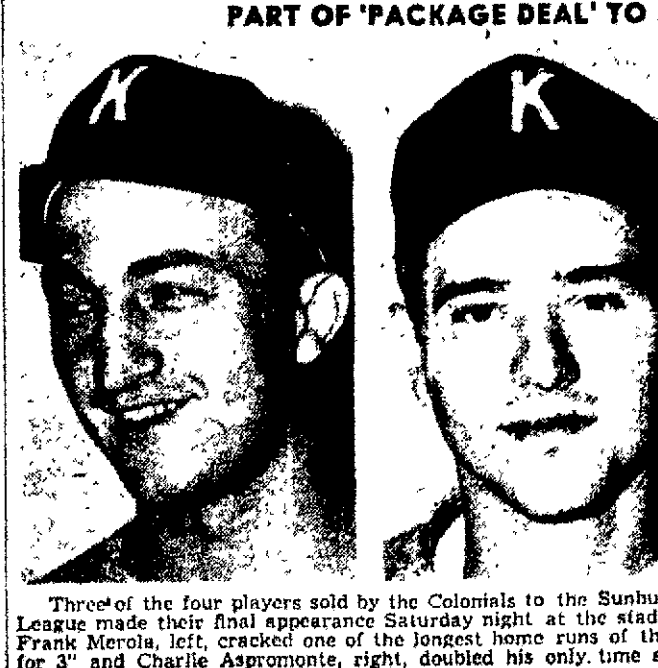

In the end of twenty-four hours of feverish telegraphic and telephone transactions, club president Addison Jones reported the placement of every player except southpaw pitcher Tony Placante and infielders Nick Pepio and Joe Sposo.

A package deal involving catcher Rudy Karson, pitcher Charlie Aspromonte and outfielder Frank Merola sent the Colonials regulars to the Sunbury, Pa. club of the Class B Interstate League. Sunbury is an affiliate of the Philadelphia Phillies farm system.

This was a straight cash transaction but club officials declined to divulge the amount involved.

Walther and Neff were sold to Waterbury, N. Y. club.

PART OF 'PACKAGE DEAL' TO SUNBURY, PA.

Three of the four players sold by the Colonials to the Sunbury, Pa., club of the Class B Interstate League made their final appearance Saturday night at the stadium. . . . and with a solid performance, Frank Merola, left, cracked one of the longest home runs of the season. Rudy Karson, center, went "3 for 3" and Charlie Aspromonte, right, doubled his only time at bat.

OFF TO ROME

Manager Emil Gall of the late Class B Kingston Colonials is expected to sign a contract as manager of the Rome Colonels of the Canadian-American League today at the upstate city. Gall will finish out the season with the Class C club and return to Kingston in 1951 if the city is able to land another franchise in organized ball.

Week-End Sports

(By The Associated Press)

River Forest, Ill.—Doris Hart, Jacksonville, Fla., won the women's singles of the National Clay Courts championships, defeating Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio, 6-1, 6-3.

Frinton-on-Sea, England—Mrs. Pat Todd, of La Jolla, Calif., retained her women's singles title in the Essex County Lawn Tennis championships, defeating Betty Wilford of England, 6-1, 6-0.

St. Paul—Sum Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, Va., and Jim Ferrier of San Francisco tied at 276 for 72 holes in St. Paul Open, will play off today.

Detroit—Stanley Sayres' record-breaking St. Louis 1V made an impressive debut in American speedboat competition as it won the 90-mile Gold Cup race on the Detroit river.

Philadelphia—Jack Kelly, Jr., won the championship senior and the quarter mile dash in the National Rowing Championship Singles on the Schuylkill river.

Seattle—John Marshall of Yale bettered the American and world record for the 880-yard freestyle at the senior men's Outdoor A.U. Swimming championships.

Paterson Driver Wins

Bobby Cowright of Paterson, N. J., played a game of cat-and-mouse at the Victory Speedway in Middletown Saturday night, as he grabbed the 50-lap championship stock race before an all-time record crowd of 6,000.

Colonial Skipper Is Upstate Today To Discuss Terms

Manager Emil Gall of the defunct Kingston Colonials is in Rome, N. Y., today, discussing terms with the Colonels of the Canadian-American League.

If the terms are satisfactory, the Colonial skipper will take over as manager of the Class C club for the remainder of the 1950 season.

Gall said he would not commit himself beyond the end of the current season.

"If Kingston is back in organized ball next year," he said Saturday night, "I'd like to return and I have been given assurance that the job is mine."

Gall said he did not anticipate any difficulty in reaching an agreement with the upstate club.

Page Wins 300-Yard Feature Race In Annual Dewitt Lake Swim Meet

Gail DeWitt Double Winner in 50 and 100

Cameron Page of Port Ewen won the gruelling 300-yard feature for the second year in row, Sunday before 650 spectators in the annual Dewitt Lake swimming races.

The Port Ewen youth and William Morris of Kingston staged a close duel for the first 200 yards of the race, but Page moved in front to stay when Morris, trying to work on a lead, did not watch the finish position and swam out of line.

During that time he was passed by Tom McElrath, head life guard at the lake, and Bob Tyrie of Port Ewen. Morris tried desperately to straighten out in the final 50 yards with a burst of speed but had to settle for fourth position.

Page gave a steady performance in winning and will be a heavy favorite for future appearances at Sportsmen's Park and Williams Lake.

DeWitt Wins Two

Gail DeWitt, a senior counselor at the Y.M.C.A. day camp, easily won the ladies' 50-yard and 100-yard swim.

Bob Engle, another counselor at the Y day camp, placed second in the 100-yard event for men and third in the 50-yard feature.

William Morris got an even break for the day when he romped home first in the 100-yard feature.

The annual event conducted by Lou Schafer, physical director of the Y.M.C.A. attracted some 43 entries. Schafer, who served as starter and referee, said the races were the most hotly contested ever held at Dewitt Lake. Gail DeWitt breezed home an easy winner in the 50-yard and 100-yard events for women but in all the other races the judges had to be right on their best to pick the winner.

The summaries:
50-Yards—Boys 12 and 13—Won by Alo Salvato, Kingston; second, Ronald Sleight, Port Ewen; third, Jerry Parks, Kingston.

50-Yards—Boys 14 and 15—Won by Jerry Tyrie, Port Ewen; second, Eddie Van Loan, Port Ewen; third, William Dullos, Kingston.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Received the following note from Miss Katharine Hasbrouck, "through your 'Do You Remember' column I was able to get some copies of 'Older Uster,' which were missing from a collection we are trying to complete for our Stone Ridge Library. We bought them from the Rev. Harry Brink in Walkill, whose address you gave in your column. Thanks to you," Miss Hasbrouck also kindly offers the use of several scrap books which she compiled for the library. Glad the readers of this column can be of service to each other.

Just how long it took news to travel back in 1845 is shown by the "Uster Republican" printed in Kingston, April 30. "The steamship, 'Caledonia' arrived at Boston, on Monday, 21st instant, bringing intelligence from England seven days later than that brought by the Great Western. The news is important, and has created considerable feeling in this country. The 'Caledonia' was detained one day by order of the government, to bring out the proceedings of Parliament in relation to the Oregon Territory. There is much discussion on this subject. Another item in this April 30, 1845 issue covering the Legislature of New York state in first session it reads: "In Senate, April 22, several bills of a private or local nature were reported." Also, "April 23, relative to purchases at receivers sales; to incorporate the Rosendale and New Paltz turnpike company; to facilitate the construction of Morse's electric magnetic telegraph were read a third time and passed. Yet it was reported to Kingston papers some weeks later from Albany. Have also 'Farmers Chronicle' dated Monday, April 4, 1796, printed and published by Ely & Nichols, near the Court House in Danbury, Conn. This 154-year-old paper is in excellent condition, as I understand at that time they did not use woodpulp but rags for their paper. Although I seldom mention 'war,' it is in all the newspapers, whatever era. In this 154-year-old paper there is coverage of December 6 saying in part 'French success in Italy. Paris, Gen. Kellerman has gained many final advantages in Italy. On the 23rd he attacked all DeVins lines, and was every where successful.' As you will notice that Paris news came through some five months later to this paper in America.

For Best Results on Green, Think In Terms of Starting the Ball Up

Another of a series written for NEA Service By GENE SARAZEN Winner of Them All

Many players today, even in the pro ranks, drive the ball down into the grass on their putting strokes.

They do not get all of the ball. They strike the ball above the center line, and have to smack it hard to get it up to the cup.

To get best results on the green, you must think in terms of starting the ball up.

Bob Jones, a splendid putter, addressed the ball on the green like a chip shot. When Walter Hagen was in his prime, he used a blade with a shade of loft to it. Jones and Hagen and all great putters strike the ball below the center.

I have never seen a consistently able putter who used a club with a rounded edge to the sole. You must be sensible about all your equipment. Get on intimate terms with your clubs, so that none of them are strangers.

A principal reason why we developed such solid shot-makers in the early days was that golfers played with only eight or nine clubs, got to know them all.

When I won my third PGA title in 1933, I had five or six clubs in my bag, no more. Any club that cut into my confidence I threw out. Whenever I pulled a club out I was working with an old friend. "Here's a fellow I know," I would feel as I gripped my

Reports Are Investigated

Bellevue, July 24 (AP)—American intelligence officers today investigated reports that East Germany's Communist government is organizing an air force, in addition to army and navy units already in training. They said they were inclined to believe the reports, which were published in the U. S. high commission's German newspaper, Neue Zeitung. The paper said the Communists were camouflaging the air force under the name "air police," the same tactic they used in forming their land "people's police" and naval "sea police." The western allies already have denounced the people's police as an illegal army.

Population Goes To 150,250,000 in 10 Years, Is Report

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The population of the United States has risen almost 19,000,000 in the past 10 years to a 1950 total officially estimated at 150,250,000.

In announcing preliminary figures for both the nation as a whole and for the individual states, the Census Bureau said Saturday night it still must recheck the totals and account for some 700,000 persons who were on the move during this year's nose-count.

While the final totals will be ready by next December 1, they will not become known until later that month, when President Truman submits them to Congress. It will be up to the lawmakers to decide then how many House members each state will have on the basis of the new figures.

Reckoned roughly, each congressional district will have 844,600 inhabitants, compared with 301,000 figures set in 1940, when the nation's population numbered 131,689,275.

California Gains

California will be the big gainer in the House, although it is not yet certain by how many seats.

A. Ross Eckler, deputy director of the Census Bureau, told reporters in releasing the figures, that the best rule of thumb for determining the future apportionment of House members lies in a set of figures made public by the House Post Office committee two years ago.

At that time, California was expected to gain eight representatives, and the following states one each: Florida, Indiana, Michigan, Oregon, Texas and Washington.

May Lose 3 Seats

New York was slated on the basis of the 1948 estimate to lose three seats. Pennsylvania, too, and these states one apiece: Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

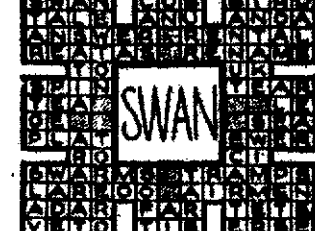

California's gain in population to 10,472,348 amounted to an increase of 51.6 per cent over 1940, when it had 6,907,387 inhabitants. That surge carried the Pacific coast state past Pennsylvania's 10,436,965 into second place in the order of states by population.

New York, which held on to first place with 14,743,210, ranked second in the number of persons gained, its percentage increase was only 9.4.

Jip Might Have to Go

Isle of Sark, July 24 (AP)—Jip, a nine-year-old Irish terrier, is about to be thrown off this tiny English Channel island because the dog's no gentleman. Jip's trouble is that she's a lady dog. A 500-year-old law has caught up with Jip and owner Ernest Rand, who came here two years ago to set up a radio and bicycle repair shop. The law says that only the Seigneur of Sark, husband of the island's feudal ruler, the Dame of Sark, may keep a female dog.

Korean Diplomacy Hinges on Gains

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Prospects for some new diplomatic negotiation to end the Korean war appear now to hinge on the outcome of the American army effort to stabilize the front.

The critical point at which Russia's real intentions toward the Korean fighting will be disclosed, American officials believe, will come when and if the Red advance is brought to a standstill.

Russia must then realize, they say, that without powerful outside assistance the Korean Communists will be unable to hold their gains and will be confronted with the threat of ultimate defeat.

At that time, according to this line of reasoning, the world will probably find out quickly whether there is to be an end to aggression and a return of peace in Korea or whether the danger of a great war will increase.

Test Is 'Successful'
Long Range Proving Ground, Cocoa, Fla., July 24 (AP)—A two-stage "bunker" rocket launched today into the air at 9:25 a. m. (E.S.T.) today in the first horizontal test firing. It was a preview of "push button" warfare, and the first successful rocket launching from this Florida proving ground for guided missiles. The firing was originally scheduled for 8 a. m. (E.S.T.) but was postponed because of technical difficulties. An attempt to test firing of a similar two-stage rocket failed last Wednesday. There was no immediate report on how the giant rocket behaved. Officials at the public information office said simply that the test was "successful."

About 38,000 dairy farmers in the six-state metropolitan New York milkshed are supporting the organization, the executive secretary, Ralph A. Eastwood of Ithaca, reported Saturday at the annual meeting. Other officers re-elected: Vice president, Harvey Whitman of Collins Center, representative of the Buffalo Milk Producers Marketing Agency; treasurer, Ross P. Kinney of Amenia, president of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, and secretary, Evelyn M. Schwartz of Syracuse.

War News Rules Change Rapidly in Korean Campaign

Tokyo, July 24 (AP)—Rules by which General MacArthur's Public Information Office handles Korean war news have changed almost as rapidly as the location of actual fighting. Just after the invasion MacArthur's headquarters labeled news on Korean fighting "immediate release." The first one, dated June 26, said "Effective now all information to the press will be released through the Public Information Office G.H.Q."

Subsequent releases covered everything from summaries of air and ground force activities to the texts of propaganda leaflets. Then, on instructions from Washington, the P.I.O. began numbering releases consecutively July 1 and calling them communiques. The first communique was numbered 63.

For a while everything released by headquarters on Korea was a communique. They ranged from official reports on ground, air and navy action to notices of personnel promotions and semi-feature stories of petroleum supplies and the new 35 inch rocket launcher.

News agencies and correspondents complained that radio tolls were being wasted on "communiques" which could be handled as plain news releases.

P.I.O. officials agreed, but had to follow Washington's orders to number in order everything dealing with Korea.

Yesterday the communiques stopped. "Korean Releases" They were replaced by "Korean releases." Numbering continues uninterrupted. Communique No. 125 was followed by Korean release No. 26.

A P.I.O. spokesman said if there were any communiques in the future they would be released only by General MacArthur or his chief of staff.

Actually there has been little change. Battle reports and feature stories will still be in the same category and numbered consecutively. The P.I.O. releases four general types of important war news: G.H.Q. summaries emphasizing ground action but presenting a roundup of armed force activities up to the time of the release or originally written—often several hours before it is released. There are usually two a day, one in the afternoon and another near midnight.

Air force summaries, giving the previous day's air activities, are released as soon as air force headquarters can evaluate results reported by pilots and group commanders. The air force occasionally puts out short announcements of special developments the same day.

Naval summaries are released periodically concerning special noteworthy developments or roundups of naval actions over periods of from one day to more than a week. Special announcements are treated separately such as troop commitments—after they have been made—changes of command, and use of new weapons.

34 Tennessee
trapped in buried, charred wreckage. Bits of the big transport were flung in a 100-yard circle. The wings were still farther away. There were conflicting reports about the crash. Some said the plane seemed to explode in mid-air. But a pilot who flew over the Carolina swampland said the ship didn't blow up until it struck. At Nashville Sunday dinners were interrupted by a terse broadcast that a plane-load of homeward-bound guardsmen had crashed. Families and sweethearts raced out to the Tennessee air national guard base. They clustered—some weeping, others white-faced and silent. At the scene of the crash an unidentified woman told would-be army rescuers that she saw two men parachute from the falling plane. But she said they dropped into the blazing wreckage. That report couldn't be verified.

New Mexico's principal industries are productions of lumber, potash, gasoline blaster copper, and Indian jewelry.

Mackenzie King Dies

Ottawa, July 24 (AP)—The world's great joined Canadians today in paying tribute to former Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King, a senior statesman of the British Commonwealth who died Saturday night of pneumonia. He will be given a state funeral Wednesday. For the 24 hours preceding the body will rest in state in Canada's Parliament. Funeral services will be held in King's Church at Ottawa. St. Andrew's Presbyterian. Burial will be in Toronto's Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, beside his father, mother and brother.

Pentagon Has

2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 15th North Korean divisions average about 10,000 men, compared with 17,000 for a full-strength American army division.

The enemy is a curious mixture of Asiatic and Russian Communist thinking. The result is alarming. He fights ferociously, with the fatalism of the oriental and the fanaticism of the Communist.

One of his most effective devices thus far has been infiltration—the practice of slipping through the U. S.-South Korean lines in the guise of a refugee, then shooting from behind.

The Far East Command said in a recent communique that Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker was giving "prompt and vigorous" attention to this practice.

The problem has been extremely difficult. There is no difference in appearance, in language or in personal customs between South and North Koreans.

But Walker's program is producing results, according to the Far East communique, in grim, cryptic language, it said.

Gen. Walker has declined, thus far, to bare the details of his plans for eliminating this demoralizing type of attack. But in the last several days he has been unable to conceal his pleasure with the results achieved.

A Pentagon briefing officer, reading this to reporters here, observed that he didn't know what Walker's program is "but it must be good."

Dispatches from the front said yesterday that the Eighth Army has a new policy to deal with disguised enemy guerrillas. Noncombatants are moved out of battle areas, all refugees are screened closely, and anyone found within the zone thereafter is presumed to be an enemy.
